DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or
(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

- a. Claims 1-5, 10-14, 20-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bertness (U.S. Patent 6,332,113).

Bertness discloses a method for testing battery pack, selecting and measuring first parameter value of the battery pack, determining the result value as function of the isolated first parameter (col. 2, lines 34-41, col. 3, lines 25-50, col. 8, lines 23-48, col. 10, lines 8-29), determining an average of the first value (col. 5-6, lines 55-5), determining the result value (col. 3, lines 52-61), providing an alert signal if result is not within a predetermined range (col. 9, lines 22-35), repeat the testing for the other batteries pack (col. 3, lines 35-49, col. 5-6, lines 55-5), the parameter is conductance, impedance, step of recording the resultant value of a particular battery comparison (col. 8, lines 33-48, col. 3, lines 35-60, col. 10, lines 30-45, fig. 14, 15), use of microprocessor, memory, electrical communication as input and output (fig. 13).

Bertness does not disclose the battery pack for an electric or hybrid vehicle, Bertness does talk about the invention apply to an automobile industry (col. 1, lines 14-25). It would have been inherent to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was know that the automobile industry also manufactures electric or hybrid vehicle.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

a. Claims 6-9, 15, 17-19 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bertness (U.S. Patent 6,332,113) in view of Wiley et al. (U.S. Patent 6,031,354).

Bertness discloses a method including the subject matter discussed above except the use of alert signal as an audio, visual, light signal, display screen, keyboard communication with a network setup.

Wiley disclose the use of alert signal as an audio, visual, light signal, display screen, keyboard communication with a network setup (fig. 1, col. 6, lines 20-31, col. 7, lines 20-30), in order to have an user friendly system and to display colored manner to instantaneous recognize by the operator (col. 5, lines 25-31).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Bertness to have the use of alert signal as an audio, visual, light signal, display screen, keyboard communication with a network setup taught by Wiley in order to have an user friendly system and to display colored manner to instantaneous recognize by the operator.

b. Claim 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bertness in view of Malaspina (U.S. Patent 5,544,784).

Bertness discloses a method including the subject matter discussed in paragraph section 1a except the use of a touch screen as input device.

Malaspina discloses the use of a touch screen as input device (col. 3, lines 35-56), for easy of use by the end user (Abstract).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Bertness to have the use of a touch screen as input taught by Malaspina in order to have an easy of use by the user.
